REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Warm Fight Between Roosevelt and Taft Following.

The Republican National Convention met Tuesday and the nomination will hardly be made before today or tomorrow, may be next week.

All day Tuesday was spent in electing a temporary chairman. Senator Elihu Root, a Taft follower, was elected over Gov. McGovern, of Wisconsin, who was supported by Roosevelt, by a majority of 56.

Wednesday was spent in a parliamentary fight over a motion to substitute 92 Roosevelt delegates for the temporary roll made by the national committee. This would have replaced 92 Taft men with that many Roosevelt followers. Four of them were from Tennessee. Over six hours were spent discussing this question. It was finally defeated. A test vote here showed Taft a majority of 54.

This question disposed of the committee on credentials was read and the convention adjourned until Thursday at noon.

No other business will be transacted until the committee on credentials makes its report. This may take some time.

Carroll county's delegate, Dr. R. M. Murray, of Trezevant, had the distinction of being the only Tennessee delegate that voted for Gov. McGovern for temporary chairman.

Roosevelt is talking about bolting if the credentials committee does not give him what he wants.

Additional Locals.

We are requested to announce an all-day singing at Concord, in the Twenty-fourth district, the first Sunday in July. The singing will be led by J. G. Smith and L. A. Wilson. Everybody is invited to come and bring dinner.

A large crowd attended the services at Bethel in the Forks of the Creek last Sunday. The singing was in the morning and evening, led by Prof. Lowrance, and preaching at 11 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Allen. Dinner was served on the grounds at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wells, of Martin, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Juddy, to Mr. Charles A. Ogan, of Dresden. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Wednesday, June 26. No cards.—Martin Mail.

Henry Cox and his little sister, Mary Priestly, fell from a swing last Sunday afternoon and both were more or less hurt. Henry's right arm was broken and Mary Priestly's face slightly bruised. The injuries are not so serious but that they are both able to be out.

Joe Jennings and wife, of Parsons, spent Saturday and Sunday here, the guests of the family of Mrs. Meda Hilliard. Mr. Jennings attended school here eighteen years ago and made many friends among our people, who were glad to see him. They were visiting Miss Helen Hilliard who boarded with them while she taught in Parsons.

Miss Ernestine Norman left last Wednesday night for a western trip with the students of Radnor College, Nashville. While on this trip she will visit Miss Helen Baber at Long Branch, Cal., and will also visit an aunt in Los Angeles, Cal. She will be gone about four weeks, and the trip will be one of much worth and enjoyment.

The children of J. B. Moore, deceased, wish to extend their heartfelt thanks and gratitude to their neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness and words of comfort extended them in their hour of sorrow and grief. Their friends have been exceedingly kind and thoughtful and they appreciate it very much.

M'KENZIE SUFFERS LOSS

J. B. Moore a Most Valuable Citizen is Dead.

McKenzie mourns the loss of a valuable and most beloved citizen. Last Sunday night, at 9 o'clock, J. B. Moore, familiarly known as "Uncle Bailey" Moore passed away.

Mr. Moore had been in bad health for a long time and his death was caused from a complication of diseases. He only recently returned from Nashville where he spent a month or more under an eminent specialist, and returned much improved, but suffered a relapse last week and the end came Sunday night.

The deceased was 73 years old, an active and influential member of the Methodist church, an ex-confederate soldier and a very successful business man. He lost a leg during the war, which gave him trouble until his death. Mr. Moore had considerable business interests and was very successful in a financial way. He was a valuable citizen and enjoyed the love and esteem of many friends and neighbors. He contributed largely of his means to the support of his church, and the new church edifice, the pride of the church and town, recently erected, was made possible by his liberal contribution.

Mr. Moore's wife died about two months ago, and he is survived by three children, two sons Newmie of McKenzie and Fenton of Chattanooga, and one daughter, Mrs. C. M. Wrinkle of McKenzie.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the large new church building being crowded to overflowing with sympathizing friends. The services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. M. Pickens, assisted by Rev. J. H. Witt and Rev. W. T. Ward. His remains were conveyed to Mt. Olivet cemetery and laid to rest by the side of his wife.

Farms Bought.

Mr. Clarence Kotterman, of Peru, Ind., purchased the William Sharp farm, one mile south on the Lexington road. Mr. Kotterman is a fine man and has a splendid family, and we wish him success in his new home.

Mr. A. G. Williams, of Canton, Ill., has purchased the farm of J. D. Smothers, in the Seventh district. Mr. Williams will move family here later.

These farms were sold by Jenkins & Son.

Dropped Dead.

Wednesday of last week Andy Russell, of Hollow Rock, dropped dead, heart trouble being the cause. The deceased was 56 years old and a very clever citizen. He was an employee of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad at Hollow Rock Junction.

Strayed.

A red mule and Jersey heifers and a Jersey male, about one year old, each, strayed from my home about two weeks ago. Report to me and be rewarded.

J. W. OWENBY,
Huntingdon, Tenn.

The following Carroll county teachers are attending the summer school of the south at Knoxville: E. H. Harrell, W. J. Forbess, C. B. King, Sam Williams, Otis Haynes, Mrs. Josie Gaskins and Misses Wyrle and Eufaula Gaskins, Annie Fowler, Rosa Bell, Jennie Lee Evans, Vallie Burns, Mary Ragland, Gertrude Newbill, Bessie Hillsman, Edie Chambers, Xistera Chambers, Mabel Blair, Maggie Tosh, Edith Miller, Hattie Wright, Rebecca Bayer, Love Hawkins and perhaps others. This is about five times as many as ever attended from this county before.

JAMES F. EVANS

An Aged Citizen of the Twentieth District Passes Away.

James F. Evans, one of the most prominent planters of the First district, died last Friday night at his home near Lavinia, after a long illness from cancer. He was about 74 years of age, and was a federal soldier in the war between the states. Mr. Evans was a lifelong member of the Methodist church and for several years was Sunday school superintendent, and was for a long time a member of the county court. He is survived by one son, I. Wirt Evans, of Huntingdon, and two daughters, Mrs. Will Thompson, of Cedar Grove, and Miss Mary Evans; one brother, Porter Evans, of Hickory Flat, and one sister, Mrs. Howe McKinney, of Cedar Grove. Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon. Interment followed at Pleasant Hill cemetery.

The deceased was well known in Huntingdon, where he visited quite often, and where he had a number of strong friends. His health had been failing for many months, and his son, I. Wirt Evans, moved his family to his father's home some time ago, in order that he might be with him and care for him in his affliction. He was a useful citizen and will be missed.

JAMES WYATT DEAD

His Remains Were Laid to Rest Last Saturday.

James Wyatt, after a long illness with tuberculosis, died last Friday at his home on Jackson street. Mr. Wyatt had been gradually sinking for some time and his death was no surprise to those advised as to his condition.

The deceased was 38 years old and a young man well known to our people. He came here a number of years ago and worked at the barber's trade, and married Miss Carrie Ramsey, daughter of Dr. J. S. Ramsey. For a few years back, until his health broke down, he worked in Arkansas. He was a clever young man and true to his family. His wife and two children survive him.

The burial occurred last Saturday morning at the Clark cemetery, the burial services being conducted by Rev. George L. Johnson and Rev. Yates Moore.

Miss Linnie Carter entertained the ladies who made the Memphis trip last summer, with a delightful entertainment last week. Those present were: Mrs. J. H. McCall, Mrs. W. L. Noell, Mrs. C. F. Adams, Mrs. J. B. Cox, Mrs. C. A. Teachout and Mrs. Ernest Hawkins. Mrs. Ed Algee, of Valdosta, Ga., was a guest.

The ladies south of town met last Thursday at Edgewood Farm, the home of Mrs. Elitia B. Dickey, and organized what is to be known as "The Lexington Road Club," its object is to study home economics and to promote social and intellectual growth. This club starts out under most favorable conditions and much mutual pleasure and profit is expected to be enjoyed by its members.

SOCIETY

Going Away Dinner.

One of the most delightful and unique affairs of the season was the "going away" dinner given Thursday evening of last week by Mrs. A. J. Smith, of McKenzie, in honor of Miss Nannie Moore, who will sail this week for Europe.

The spacious veranda and parlor were filled with the fragrance of flowers, and the decorations of the diningroom carried out in every detail the "going away" idea. An immense mirror in the center of the table represented the ocean, and a small ship, the "Kroonland," on which she will sail. The place-cards were boat-shaped, with small steamer trunks on one side, on which were gilded the initials of each; on the other were the date and countries of her tour. Smaller ships, mirrors, flowers and seashells added to the attractiveness of the scheme.

Each of the seven nations that Miss Moore will tour, was represented in the menu by the flag and dish characteristic of that nation. Toasts to the honoree were given by the hostess and her niece, Miss Kathleen Moore, who assisted in serving.

Those who enjoyed this unusual occasion were: Mesdames J. B. Cannon, A. J. Smith, B. P. Moore, R. B. Moore, W. G. Puryear, Lloyd Cannon, Misses Nannie Moore, Nannie McFarland, Marian Gore, of Birmingham; Nellie McClain, of Martin; Ruth Burns, Kathleen Moore and Clara Smith.

Embroidery Club.

Mrs. T. M. Harwell was hostess of a delightful meeting of the Embroidery Club on Thursday afternoon of last week. After the usual hour spent in fancy work, a most delicious menu was served. The attractive place-cards were engraved and had a tiny bow of ribbon on one corner. Mrs. Harwell was assisted in serving by Mrs. Meda Hilliard and Misses Helen and Iva Hilliard.

Those enjoying the hospitality were: Mesdames O. C. Tidwell, C. A. Taylor, H. P. Smiley and James Johnson and Misses Frances Cox, Virginia Lee and Lillian Foster.

At Public Auction.

The beautiful rubber-tired buggy won by Miss Josie Parker in the Newbill Bros' automobile contest, at Trezevant, will be sold at auction in front of the Cumberland Telephone office in Trezevant at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 22. While Miss Parker appreciates the buggy, yet she needs the money more than she does the buggy, and her friends who helped her win it, have advised her to make the sale as announced above.

LOSES BOTH HANDS

Brakeman G. H. Banks Seriously Injured Last Week.

Thursday of last week Brakeman G. H. Banks, of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. L. railroad, and who had recently moved to Lexington, suffered a fearful accident at Hollow Rock Junction. In some way his hands were caught between the drawheads of the cars and both were mashed to pieces.

The unfortunate man was taken to Paducah for medical treatment. His left arm was amputated just above the wrist, while his right arm was taken off just above the elbow. At last accounts he was doing as well as could be expected.
